Progress Highlights During March 1968

1. The first Retirement Seminar was successfully run 25 - 29 March 1968. Portfolios containing kits of selected material on the major themes of the seminar were compiled and given to the 178 employees leaving from 1 April through 31 December 1968. The five sessions had a total attendance of 1,579 with the daily attendance running from 275 to 394.
2. Officers of the RCPS have conducted research on nine possible incentive programs for encouraging early retirement. The establishment of a basis for early retirement determination and action was set down in my instructions as an essential requirement for the Program I was charged with establishing. In March an inclusive and practical concept of retirement incentive through the establishment of a controlled and participating Agency Reserve was forwarded for the consideration of interested offices. The concept so far has been well received and is undergoing further development.
3. An Agency Notice covering the new resume program is now being drafted by the Office of Personnel/Regulations Officer. It reflects the basic policy and procedural paper forwarded to the Regulations Officer in March which had received the prior concurrence of Security and Cover.
4. A question and answer booklet on the CIA Retirement System has been drafted. It has been under coordination with representatives of the Office of Personnel, OGC and OLC. It is now ready for a second review after which it will be forwarded for final Agency coordination. It will parallel similar booklets on the Civil Service and the Foreign Service retirement systems.
5. The Retirement Counselors have begun testing the counseling questionnaire as a checking device in appraising the scope of a retiree's retirement preparation and needs. A supplemental form for recording job assistance requests and the retirees' specific requirements is also ready for use in RCPS.
